ALLIES CAPTURE FONDOUK PASS

Eighth Army Columns Pursue Retreating Rommel's Forces

Big Bag Of Axis Planes In Africa: Two Italian Cruisers Hit

NEW YORK, April 11. Allied tanks and infantry have captured Fondouk Pass, states a report reaching here from Allied Headquarters in North Africa.

TWO COLUMNS RACING NORTH

LONDON: The Algiers radio stated to-day that the Eighth Army is racing north through the great plain beyond Sfax in two columns.

CLOSING IN ON KAIROUAN

The Vichy radio quoting Berlin military circles said today that the Allied forces advancing on Kairouan are closing in on the city. The Vichy radio also stated today that the Axis have evacuated the important airfield of La Fouchoniere north-west of Sfax. It was one of Rommel's main air bases for fighting in the Sfax area. The announcer added that the Allies are advancing on all sectors in Tunisia.

Allies Capture Tiger Tank

Reuters' special correspondent which stretch from a place called from outside Sfax, says in a message which reached London this morning: In his fight northwards from Sfax, Rommel is playing a delaying game until his main forces can reach the line of Hols stretch from a place called Enfidaville a few miles north of Sousse, westward through the Kairouan area to the vicinity of Pichon. In the Eighth Army's first fight with German Mark VI Tiger tanks in an area about fifteen miles north-east of the Wadi Akarit one Tiger was completely destroyed and another captured intact. Ever since that engagement Rommel's forces have been racing north as fast as possible, so that all roads and tracks have been crowded with fleeing Axis transport. As the rear guard darts from a low ridge to another, laying down a hasty screen of anti-tank guns and holding off the Eighth Army advance elements for a few hours at the time.

EX-ITALIAN C-IN-C OF SAHARA CAPTURED

General Albert Mannerlin, former Italian Commander-in-Chief in Sahara was captured with all his staff because the Germans had taken all his transport vehicles. General Mannerlin was one of the most prominent colonial soldiers who was responsible for the defence of Fezzan against General Le Clerc.

OFFICIAL COMMUNIQUE

Allied Headquarters North Africa: Today's Allied communiqué says: "The Eighth Army continued to advance northward through Tunisia. Sfax was occupied in the early morning and by last night our forward patrols had made considerable progress to the north. In the Fondouk area our armoured forces continued to advance towards Kairouan encountering stiff opposition by enemy armour. In the north in Medjel-el-Bab further progress and more prisoners have been taken."

DIRECT HITS ON TWO ITALIAN CRUISERS

Extensive air operations were carried out yesterday by the north-west African Air Force. Strong formations of "Liberators" of the strategic air force attacked two Italian heavy cruisers at La Maddalena on the north coast of Sardinia. Both the cruisers received direct hits from heavy bombs and were severely damaged, an explosion being seen on one of them.

BIG BAG OF AXIS PLANES

During the course of two encounters, 38 Axis transport aircraft with strong fighting escorts. In ensuing encounters 38 Axis shot down 39 of the Junkers 52s and eleven other enemy aircraft. B. 26s and "Mitchell" medium bombers on a sea sweep also encountered large formations of "Junkers" 52s and other aircraft. The bombers attacked the enemy aircraft and destroyed ten "Junkers" 52s and two "Junkers" 88s. On the night of April 9/10 "Wellington" bombers attacked enemy troops and transport concentrations in the Enfidaville area. On the northern sector of the front fighters in the course of offensive sweeps destroyed enemy aircraft.

H. the Nizam of Hyderabad relinquishing all his titles and honours, etc., in view of the ban imposed on him prohibiting him from making any statements and delivering any public speeches either in Hyderabad territory or outside. I understand that the H. E. H. has accepted the said memorandum. In this connection I learn further, that the Nawab Sahib has given up his hereditary titles, etc., in order to be free to serve the Muslim masses of the States. It is expected that he will preside over the All-Indian States Muslim League Conference to be held in Delhi during the Easter holidays.

"WAR" BIRDS INVADE SPAIN

VALENCIA, April 11. The battle of Tunisia has caused a great migration of wild duck to Spain. Thousands of wildfowl are now swarming around Balakleya, a little town near the coast, causing considerable damage to nearby plantations. The situation has been made worse as this is close to the sea and local farmers are killing ducks with sticks and stones.

Battle For Balakleya

German Panzers' Attacks Beaten Off: Reds Use "Air Lorries"

LONDON, April 11. In his special despatch from Moscow, Reuters' special correspondent says: "After a three day battle, General Golikov's forces are today still firmly holding their upper Donetz line against furious German night and day assaults. The Red Army is still concentrating their attacks to seize this bridgehead for a new spring offensive. Further south, near Izum, the initiative has passed to the Red Army which during the night forced the Germans from certain positions. The "Red Star" said today that on the second day of the battle at Balakleya, four German major attacks between dawn and dusk were beaten off. The Red Army's frontal assault German panzers were switched about in blows. JOCKEYING FOR POSITIONS. Reuters' special Correspondent, Moscow: Transport planes are playing a specially important part during the present comparative lull on the ground imposed by night. They are jockeying for positions for the coming days of struggle. With road conditions interfering with the flow of lorries, supplies in Russia "air" is the most efficient means of carrying the wounded back. One squadron of the Red Air Force has carried a thousand tons of material and evacuated hundreds of wounded. The Red Army has instituted a real hunt for Soviet transport planes flying by night as well as day. The "millionaire" pilot Morozov—he had been flying kilometres to his credit before the war—has been shot down in the past two weeks. The only night fighter reported to-day from the Balakleya area of the Upper Donetz is the Doon School. It has been fighting the Germans' recent attacks day and night assaults designed to wrest the bridgehead from the Red Army. In the south near Izum the initiative is now in Soviet hands and on the Central Front the Red Army has consolidated its positions.—Reuter.

DE GAULLE HEARS CATROUX'S REPORT

LONDON, April 11. Gen. de Gaulle to-day presided over a special three-hour meeting of the French National Committee called to hear Gen. Catroux's report. Gen. Catroux said—according to the official statement issued later—that almost all Frenchmen in North and West Africa were eager to see the establishment of Central and Provisional French Authority as soon as possible. Various plans recently reported to have been under consideration in London and Algiers were stated to have "no foundation in fact." The opinion of Fighting French Headquarters is that pessimism at this stage would be as out of place as premature and excessive optimism.

Artists Face Paper Shortage In China

NEW DELHI, April 11. "It is a matter of particular rejoicing that at a time like the present, when the greater part of the world is torn by battle and soaked in blood, we are still able to engage ourselves in artistic achievement in the satisfaction of aesthetic instinct," said Mr. S. A. Shen, Chinese Commissioner, opening the exhibition of paintings, drawings and sculptures by Sudhir Khastgir of the Doon School. Referring to handicaps of artists in China he said that an eminent painter had begged of him (Mr. Shen) in a letter to supply him with a few pounds of white zinc, a few bottles of linseed oil and a ream of drawing paper.

Sarker Exposes Keynes & Morgenthau Plans

PLEA FOR FREEDOM FIRST AND EXPERTS' BODY FOR INDIA'S POST-WAR RECONSTRUCTION

G. L. Mehta On Solution Of Food Problem

Mr. Nalini Ranjan Sarker, formerly Commerce Member of the Government of India, opened the Second Session of the All-Bengal Economic Conference on Sunday evening. The opinion that "the main task of evolving a satisfactory programme of post-war reconstruction in India should be entrusted to a small competent body of experts, led preferably by an eminent industrialist, who should get into contact with industrial interests and prepare concrete plans in collaboration with commercial interests and assisted by the Government," was expressed by Mr. Nalini Ranjan Sarker.

"It appears to me," he added, "that under the present system of Government plans for post-war reconstruction evolved by the Government or under their auspices alone are not likely to prove very fruitful. Government assistance we must have. But it must be in the nature of assistance only."

Mr. Sarker considered that in any plan for future world-reconstruction it was essential that India should be given full political and economic freedom to evolve a balanced economy by a more rapid process of industrialisation. Any plan which would merely seek to maintain or improve the standard of living in advanced countries by perpetuating very low standards of life in countries like India and China was bound to fail.

Referring to the Beveridge Plan, "designed to eliminate poverty, disease, ignorance and unemployment from post-war Britain," Mr. Sarker said: "Beveridge Plan for India would be unthinkable till our productive activity has risen to the requisite level. We have to begin our work of reconstruction right from the start and work our way up to a higher standard of living from a miserably low level."

ANGLO-US PLANS EXPOSED

Referring to the Anglo-US plans regarding post-war financial problems and the American proposals outlined by Mr. Morgenthau, Mr. Sarker said: "It is clear

Asians Won't Be Eastern Slaves For Western Profits, Says Willkie

The "Hindu" publishes the following Washington message: Mr. Wendell Willkie in a book entitled "One World," in which he lays down and expands the impressions gained during his recent world tour, has again proved a strong advocate of India's independence. He says, "If we believe in the ends we proclaim and want to stir the forces in the Middle East to work with us towards those ends, we must cease trying to perpetuate our control by manipulating the native forces and by playing off one against the other for our own ends."

ANTI-ASIATIC BILL

Natal & Transvaal Indians To Present Petition To Parliament

CAPETOWN, April 11. It is stated that the Natal Indian Congress and the Transvaal Indian Congress are to present a petition to the Parliament on Monday or Tuesday asking to be heard at the House on the subject of trading and occupation of land (Transvaal and Natal) Restriction Bill.—Reuter.

Transvaal Indian Congress' Memorandum

CAPETOWN, April 10. The Transvaal Indian Congress today submitted a memorandum to the Minister of Interior, Mr. Lawrence, strongly protesting against the decision to renew the Asiatic (Transvaal Land and Trading) Act for a further period of three years. The memorandum pointed out that the Congress delegation received by Mr. Lawrence in March established a clear and irrefutable case for the non-extension of the Act. The finding of the Broome Commission and the general situation in the Transvaal left no room for doubt or argument on this point. By extending the Act and in disregard the finding of the Commission, the Government made itself responsible for breach of faith. The conclusion, however regrettable, is inescapable that equity and justice have again been sacrificed on the altar of appeasement.—Reuter.

R. A. F. Attack On South-West Of Germany

LONDON, April 11. An Air Ministry communiqué today stated: "Last night aircraft of the Bomber Command attacked objectives in South-West Germany. Heavy clouds made it difficult to see the results. Two enemy fighters were destroyed by our bombers. Mines were also laid in enemy ports. Eighteen bombers are missing. The raiders dropped many 4,000-pound bombs and clouds were lit by the glow of fires. One Stirling bomber had a lucky escape when it collided with Junkers 88 on the way out."

CHAMPIONING UNDER PRIVILEGED RACES!

Landon On Roosevelt's First Post-war Aim

WASHINGTON, April 11. The Republican Candidate for the Presidency in 1948, Mr. Alfred Landon, said to-day that President Roosevelt had outlined to him a plan to raise the living standards of the underprivileged races of the world as one of the first post-war aims. After seeing President Roosevelt, Mr. Landon said, "Among the things we discussed was the importance, not only to the people of the underprivileged races of the world, but also what it would mean to the world if their standard of living was raised and their purchase power increased."

Mr. Landon said that such an objective would replace what he called the former policy of having such races "milked as has been the habit of most of the colonial empire systems of the world." "I might add myself," he said, "that the plan the president outlined as having in mind for accomplishing that objective appealed to me as having considerable merit."—Reuter.

FIRST DOMINION T. U. CONFERENCE

The first task consists of exchange of information and ideas aiming at making available war-time experiences of various countries to other countries. The verbatim report will figure in the meeting's post-war discussions.—Reuter.

Cripps On Allied Air Mastery

LONDON, April 11. Sir Stafford Cripps, Minister of Aircraft Production, addressing workers at an aircraft factory in the Home Counties said: "We have gained mastery of the air in nearly every part of the world and we must maintain that mastery not only by full production but also by seeing to it that the quality of our production is ahead of the enemy. We have not yet mastered the U-Boat but we are not in a position of uneasiness about it because every effort we can put out is being put out."—Reuter.

AIR ATTACK ON AXIS CONVOY

VALETTA (Malta), April 11. To-day's Malta communiqué says yesterday our fighter-bombers attacked Lampedusa aerodrome. Last night Malta torpedo bombers of Royal Navy Air Force attacked a German convoy off the Tunisian coast and attacked with the help of flares.

"Swaraj is my birth-right and I will have it" ——TILAK

The Bombay Chronicle

NATIONAL ECONOMY

Every year during the National Week there is a vigorous campaign carried on for the promotion of the constructive activities inaugurated by the Congress, particularly the economic part of the programme represented by Khadi and village industries. In all efforts to secure freedom, the urge for economic equality, of which the All-India Spinners' Association and the All-India Village Industries Association are the embodiment, cannot play a very important part. They help in building up national strength, they seek to identify in a visible manner all nationalistically minded persons with the economic interests of the masses, and lastly they serve to bring home to the masses of our vast population in the countryside the desire of the Nation's leaders to achieve economic justice on a nation-wide scale.

Taking stock of the year's achievements is a common practice on occasions such as the observance of the National Week. In our recent comments on the half-yearly report of the All-India Spinners' Association we drew attention to the loss and harm caused to this movement for economic amelioration by the hasty and untimely action of certain Provincial Governments in the productive capacity of the All-India Spinners' Association has, as a consequence, been sadly crippled, and this at a time when Khadi is in very considerable demand. Besides, the day-to-day cloth of that variety is available in the market at competitive prices. It is, indeed, unfortunate that this excellent opportunity of supplementing the supplies of cloth and reorganizing all over India this universal cottage industry should have been lost to the nation, through the misguided action of over-zealous of administrators in several parts of the country.

Similarly, there is a great demand for handmade paper, a growing recognition of the place of this industry in the industrial reorganization of the country. There has been some increase in productive capacity which is, however, wholly incommensurate with the demand and the difficulty is neither interference nor suppression by Government on the lack of financial resources. But paper-making is a specialized industry and at present there is a shortage of artisans. As soon as these are available in larger numbers, there should be great scope for the expansion of this cottage industry on well-organized lines with an improvement both in the quality and the quantity of production. References may be made lastly to another part of the programme of the All-India Village Industries Association, namely, the popularizing of the use of hand processed foodstuffs with a view to providing wider employment to labour in rural areas as also from the point of view of nutrition. The latter aspect has received growing public recognition in recent years. It is interesting to record that the Governments of Bombay, Madras, Travancore and Cochin have all accepted the desirability of discouraging the use of polished rice in the form in which it is produced by rice mills. All of them favour under-milling from the point of view of the better nutritive contents of under-milled rice and in order to have a larger volume of rice for consumption. These are all moves in the right direction, though scarcely adequate. Conditions of war economy have taught the nation many useful lessons, and it is to be hoped that as a result the public and Government will decide to promote action that subserves the needs of national economy in the India that dwells in villages.

Need For More Relief

To-day will be celebrated in the city the Bijapur Flag Day for the relief of famine stricken districts. The Flag Day has been organised by the Women's Relief Committee headed by Lady Rama Rao. Each seller of flags on this day has a badge with the description "Authorized Seller" on it, and the instructions are that the Flag Day donations should be given only to such sellers and no one else. As the need for help is vast and the collections made so far are small, public donations have to be generous.

It is estimated that eight lakhs of people are affected and tens of thousands of cows and buffaloes also need to be saved from starvation or slaughter. Relief, therefore, must be on a vast scale and it can be adequate only if Government organise it almost entirely, with or without funds elicited from the public. But the Government, though they declared famine in the district in December last, have been too slow to carry out their plans of relief and the plans themselves seem to be quite inadequate. In reply to many criticisms in the press Government issued a communique last week mentioning sixteen relief works already started and promising to start some more in the future. But the number of men employed on the works is the one thing that gives a clear indication of the extent of relief, has been withheld from the public. Mr. P. J. Gandhi, a member of the Bijapur Famine Relief Committee, of which Mr. A. V. Thakkar is President, points out that the total number of persons employed on relief works is "ridiculously small", being about 6,000 persons while the number of workers similarly employed in the famine district of Bellary in Madras is over a lakh. Government relief needs to be far more generous and far more prompt.

But the dire conditions in the district brook no delay and the public have to give such relief as they can get together. The Thakkar Committee, in collaboration with other workers in Bijapur, has started cattle camps and mass feeding centres. Weavers are given yarn either donated by mill-bought by the Committee or spun by local spinners to be made into cheap saris. Eight hundred spinning wheels have also been established to spin yarn. Much of this relief has been financed from funds collected by the Bombay Relief Committee, but a great deal more help is necessary and that must be prompt. It is to be hoped to-day's contributions will go a long way to meet the needs of the situation.

Beyond Sfax

It is no mean achievement on the part of General Montgomery's Eighth Army to have covered the distance of 75 miles from Wadi Akarit to Sfax in three days. One or two factors in this connection must, however, be noted. The number of Axis prisoners taken after the Akarit break-through has been comparatively quite small and the Eighth Army has been driving forward without encountering any worthwhile resistance. This means that, having disengaged himself, Rommel has so far successfully evaded contact in his rapid retreat northwards. He seems also to have shaken off the Americans driving on his right flank from Gafsa. If Rommel passing unmolested through Suse reaches Tunis there is the possibility of the Afrika Korps Commander and von Arnim making jointly a determined stand in north-east Tunisia with Bizerta and Tunis as the main bastions of defence. It is certain that they will eventually be ejected, experiencing a "first class" and definitely more disastrous Dunkirk. But they will possibly have delayed the cleaning up of Africa to a considerable extent at a stage when time is of vital importance in the strategy of the war in Europe.

There are, however, reports of Allied efforts not to allow the Axis that opportunity. Allied aircraft, helped now by the navy, are striking blows in order to cripple the Axis forces, particularly the Afrika Korps, and leave them in no condition to offer much serious resistance during their last stand. The Allied forces are striking in order to make a determined effort to capture, even at considerable cost, the Axis base of Kairwan west of Suse. If it succeeds it may cut Rommel's retreat at Suse. The First Army, too, is driving eastwards with the apparent intention of taking Tunis or at any rate cutting it off from Bizerta. But it is yet to be seen what success attends these efforts. The operations in Tunisia will now be watched with tense interest, not only because they will end in an undoubtedly great triumph but also because of the important bearing they have on the fighting in Russia.

Heartening Report

In a nationwide broadcast the other day Colonel Knox gave quite a heartening account of progress of American naval construction. Even before the end of 1942 the American Navy had made up its serious losses and was stronger than before Pearl Harbour. Nor is that all. Talking of 1943, Colonel Knox declared: "The number of warships in the fighting fleet will more than double itself in this single year. The tonnage of new warships completed in 1943 will equal two-thirds our total tonnage of combatant ships in 1942." Practically the same progress will be made in the construction of naval planes, and, for the matter, in that of army planes, too.

Now what should all this mean if, particularly, are added to these American achievements the steady if less spectacular production in Britain? Even before the end of 1942 the American Navy and air power will overwhelm the joint strength of the Axis and Japan. On the other hand a great reduction in the strain to which the Allies have been subjected is already within sight with the imminent opening of the Mediterranean. The speed and rate at which Allied strength is growing not only renders it practicable to open a second front in Europe immediately after the Tunisian campaign. It also makes possible much greater and aggressive efforts against the Japanese in every theatre, not excluding Japan herself, within the next few months.

FRANKLY SPEAKING

Oppose The Principle Itself

It appears from the Government of India's communique on anti-that they had asked for an opportunity to comment on the proposed legislation but that the Government failed to comply with this modest request. This is hardly a compliment to the Government of India, who would certainly have been heard of if they were representative of, and responsible to, the people of India. Even now the Government may retrieve the situation by opposing the very principle of the legislation, without waiting indefinitely for its detailed provisions. They may thereby strengthen the hands of the Indians in South Africa and friends like Dr. Hofmeyr who rightly condemn and fear the "dracon of racial and colour prejudice."

Make Common Cause

The South African Government seem determined to proceed with their threatened legislation without any regard for the process of Indians and representations by the Government of India. Bill imposing restrictions on the acquisition and occupation of land by Asiatics in Natal and to impose further trading and present restrictions on Asiatics in Transvaal has already passed the first reading and the second reading is on April 14. Sir Raza Ali Khan, Standing Member of the Union Government, do not stay all such agitation at least till the war is over, it will be necessary for the people of India to make common cause with their countrymen in Africa and devise ways and means to protect the latter's interests, whether or not the Government of India help them.

JUDGMENT IN CUTTACK DISTURBANCES CASE

THROUGH A. P. & U. P.

Mr. J. E. Maher, I. C. S., Special Judge delivered judgment today in the case against Surendranath Dwivedy, a Journalist and a member of the A. I. C. C., Mr. Lokanath Misra, M. L. A., and 14 others in connection with the recent disturbances in the Province.

Fourteen of the accused were convicted, Dwivedy getting six years' R.I. and the rest three years' R.I. and the three charged under several Sections of the Defence of India Rules, the Railway Act, the Telegraph Act and the Indian Penal Code.

"ACCUSED ACTING HONESTLY"

The Judge observed that he had watched the accused closely during the trial had thought that according to their lights they had been acting honestly. He thought also that they had all supposed that they had been acting under the instructions of people whom they respected and whom they felt themselves bound to obey.

"In many, indeed in nearly all the bulletins," continued the Judge, "the activities that I have described, the uprooting of railways, the burning of police posts, telegraphs and the police stations, the seizure of Government offices are referred to as the response of the people to the Congress Call."

In a letter from Surendranath Dwivedy to Gour Chandra Das in Balasore it is said, "Yesterday a man came here from the A.I.C.C. I met him. They have received a special instruction from Gandhiji. It is that the movement should anyhow be finished before October."

He then immediately proceeds to refer to the fact that however, how these men expected to uproot communications, and to capture police stations without the use of violence. "I am well aware that in many places in the documents which have been exhibited in this case it is stressed that personal violence must never be used. The Half-Column By "Dim"

Saw Jockey Scanlan at the races. There's a fellow who has got his wits about him. Out of racing for two years, there is a man whom I would like to see in the saddle. I have a feeling that with this new bunch of stewards, we may see this happen by Friday. I am watching Scanlan's case with great interest, because I believe that his case is relevant to that cleaner racing for which we in Bombay are making a fight. And my God we'll get it.

It is with great regret that one reads of the sad and untimely death of Dr. Jai Prakash, the Dean of the K. E. M. Hospital. He was one of the more brilliant among our younger medical men and his loss will be deeply felt by the medical profession. He was a London M.D. and one of the most amiable men to belong to that profession suffering. He was only 42 at the time of his death. One wonders why a man who has done and was doing so much for humanity should die so young.

Geat on Dash Dash Road thought that Pharaoh's wife was called "Fairy."

Nearly three lacs of rupees were available for gambling on a single treble pool. Business is "good" - very good!

Why Should Br. Bureaucracy Run Indian Provinces Exercising Unlimited Powers, Asks Raja Maheshwar Dayal

LUCKNOW, April 10. "It is clear that the British Government does not want to transfer power and the recent refusal of the Viceroy to allow any personal contact with Mahatma Gandhi has brought into bold relief their pre-determined decision to rule out as long as possible, approach to reconciliation," observed Raja Maheshwar Dayal Seth, Raja of Kotra, in the course of his presidential address at the Jwalapur (Hardwar) Hindu Sabha Conference today.

UNANIMOUS DEMAND
The Raja said that it was depressing that the demand of the Nation in which all sections and communities united for the unconditional and immediate release of Mahatma Gandhi was most untrusting. "That while the war is said to be fought for the sake of democracy and liberty, we actually find in India that whatever little of democracy did exist has been taken away from and most of the Indian provinces are run by British bureaucracy under foreign governors who exercise unlimited and unrestricted powers."

ON MAHASABHA LEADERSHIP
Concluding the Raja criticised the present policy and programme of the Hindu Mahasabha. He said that the present leadership of the Hindu Mahasabha had failed to arouse public enthusiasm and was serving merely as a recruiting agency of the Government. The Mahasabha did nothing to help the Hindus on whom a "jazia tax" in the form of collective fines was imposed. He appealed to the Hindus to save their national organisation and demand a complete reorientation both in its outlook and a change in persons shaping its destiny. —A. P.

AGA KHAN HOCKEY
B. B. & C. I. Beat Bhagwant In Second Replay

In beating Bhagwant Club by two love in the second semi-final evening, the Aga Khan Hockey Tournament, where they met the Lucknowians. Both the railway goals were scored by Kishan of Bhagwant. The Bhagwant defenders rising shots giving the Bhagwant the narrowest of chances and it seems an open question whether Kishan had not "chopped" the ball when executing the stroke in each case.

CHUNGKING, April 11. A Chinese "communique" reports: Fierce fighting round the treaty port of Swatow in South-Eastern Kwangtung province. The fighting follows a Chinese raid which caused considerable damage. In Hupeh province, over 500 Japanese were killed. A despatch from Loyang today adds that a strong Japanese attack at Wushin in Huaiwei in north-west Honan province was repulsed. —Reuter.

Premature To Shout "Victory"
HAVANA (Cuba): The Soviet Ambassador to the United States and the first Soviet Minister to Cuba, M. Maxim Litvinov told a press conference that it was premature to shout "victory." "Certain United Nations must increase their present military efforts considerably to hasten victory—even to make victory possible," he said, remarking that the Axis has sufficient reserves to recover from the blows. —Reuter.

50 "Spitfires" For Russia

SOMEWHERE IN IRAQ, APRIL 10. Fifty Spitfires now being assembled on airfield here for flying to Russia will pay back one of the most dramatic debts of this war. In the dark days of the retreat in Egypt, the British Command asked the Soviet command to spare them every bomber diverted to Boston bombers from Persia to Egypt where they helped to stop Rommel. These are now on their way. —Reuter.

Plan For International Educational Organisation

NEW YORK (By Cable).—Twenty leading American educational institutions have recommended that the United Nations should immediately establish an international educational organisation of which the plan and structure would be similar to the present International Labour Organisation. The purpose of the new organisation would include the interchange of information among nations about educational methods and procedure; providing for instructional material free from narrow nationalistic prejudices; encouragement of the democratic ideal of equality of opportunity through education; providing technical expert assistance to nations wishing to improve their educational programmes; guarding against any country's using education "as an instrument for poisoning the minds of the people, or fostering hatred, theories of racial superiority and support of warlike aggressiveness." Membership would be open to all the United Nations, including the exiled Governments. Members would send Government, educational and public representatives to a delegate assembly. Administration would be vested in an international education office.

Help Bijapur Famine Victims

Eight lakhs of people are seriously affected this year by the terrible famine in Bijapur District. A famine that was declared in December and which will continue till October or November.

It is hard for the city dweller to realise what this means. Almost a year without wages or employment, for the Bijapuri is largely an agriculturalist and, without wages, food or clothing cannot be bought, so one must emigrate or sell one's most valuable assets—ploughs, cattle, or stars. When cattle is sold, even when famine comes to an end, the land cannot be tilled. Starvation and poverty continue.

Permanent famine relief works giving employment in road building and bunding schemes helps the destitute over the famine period. But cattle must be saved for the cultivator, the large population of weavers with sedentary habits cannot do hard outdoor famine labour. Free kitchens to feed children, infirm and the aged must be maintained.

Government organise relief work and doles but so much more help is urgently required. A Committee with Mr. A. V. Bhaskar as Chairman in Bombay, in collaboration with workers in Bijapur, have started cattle camps and mass feeding centres which have proved a great boon to the cultivator but which must be expanded if over a lakh more cattle is to be saved from starvation, sale or the slaughter-house. Free kitchens are functioning over people daily in different centres. Weavers are given yarn either donated by mills, bought by the Committee or spun by local spinners to be made into cheap saris. Eight hundred spinning wheels have also been established to spin yarn.

These activities so essential to the people are financed by donations to the Bijapur Famine Relief Committee, Bombay. Flag Day on April 12th organised by a Women's Committee, headed by Lady Rama Rao, is a national, humanitarian cause by giving their contributions large and small.

Tram And Bus Coupons

Mr. Maqbool Ahmed writes:—
The use of half anna coupons issued by the B. E. S. & T. Co., Ltd. for the purpose of exchange, are causing considerable inconvenience to the passengers. The bus coupons can "only" be used in buses and the tram coupons "only" in trams. With the passenger travelling in bus, the tram coupon is a burden of pocket and vice versa. I, therefore, suggest, to the company to lift the restriction of "only" from the coupons, and thus make them exchangeable both in buses and trams for public convenience."

'Shame' Greets 'People's War'

Abrupt End Of Calcutta
Communist Party
Demonstration

CALCUTTA, April 10.
A students' meeting organised at Sradhananda Park by the local Communist Party to discuss the war situation came to an abrupt end this afternoon.

When one of the speakers at the meeting characterised the present war as a "Peoples War" a section of the crowd objected to it by shouts of "Shame". The President of the meeting, Dr. D.N. Sen, made an attempt to pacify the rival groups, which however, proved futile and the meeting ended in confusion.

Earlier, the meeting adopted a resolution expressing sorrow at the sad demise of Begum Azad and criticised the Government of India in not releasing Maulana Azad on parole to see his dying wife.—A. P.
